

W. H. H. Kellogg Passes Away.

William H. H. Kellogg passed away at his home in the suburbs of this city, Saturday morning, at 10:15, after an illness of but a few days, the cause of his death being apoplexy.

The deceased was born in Rolling Prairie, LaPorte county, Ind., March 10, 1841, and died May 14, 1910, aged 69 years, 2 months and 4 days. At the age of 15 years, in 1855, he came with his parents to Iowa, locating in the Cedar Valley, at Charles City, then known as St. Charles, where he lived until the breaking out of the Civil war in 1861, and enlisted as a private in Company G, 27th Iowa Volunteer Infantry and served his country well for three years, and re-enlisted as a veteran for three years longer, or during the war. He was promoted at different times and at the close of the war was mustered out of service with an honorable discharge from the highest non-commissioned officer, Orderly Sergeant, of his company. He had been married twice and is survived by his widow, Mrs. R. M. Kellogg, and his step-children; also by two sons and three daughters by his first union, and one brother and one sister.

The deceased was a loving husband, a kind father, and was held in high esteem by his neighbors.

During his army life he contracted a disease of the eyes which grew upon him until he was nearly or quite blind for the past two and one-half years. During this time he has been cheerful and uncomplaining and passed away with but little suffering after being stricken with apoplexy.

The funeral was held at the Congregational church Monday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Burch officiating, and interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Those from out of town who were present to attend the funeral were Channey M. Kellogg, of Lehigh; Mrs.

J. E. Holroyd, of Milford, a brother and sister of the deceased; and the following step-children: Mr. and Mrs. Lou Coe, of Mason City; Ray Coe, of Marshalltown; Mrs. C. E. Doty, of Chicago. Mrs. H. C. Moats, of Cedar Rapids, received the telegram too late to attend the funeral, but arrived the following day.
